[REDACTED]

In these times of mounting anxieties when world policy, self-determination and personal morality are seriously questioned we hold that there must be some one factor which has prevented the breakup of our society. In searching for an answer, we find that it could possibly be the fervent desire for peace and unity so prevalent throughout this nation and much of the world. If we wish to live in a community where the goods of life and the benefits of nature are accessible to all then the dissent and divisiveness which exist today must not be allowed to persist..."Today the first duty of responsible citizens is to bind together rather than tear apart. The fissures in our society are already dangerously deep."

John W. Gardner, Secretary of HEW, in an address at the University of North Carolina,
October 12, 1967

has made us neighbors. History has made us friends. Economics has made us partners; and necessity has made us allies."

"To the full extent of my power, because I am a priest, I wish from now on to be the first to become conscious of all that the world loves, pursues and suffers; I want to be the first to seek, to sympathize and to suffer; the first to unfold and sacrifice myself to become more widely human and more nobly of the earth than any of the world's servants."

Teilhard de Chardin

"Americans must look to its young people—the children of this time of change . . . It is not enough to understand and to see clearly the future. We will be shaped in the arena of human activities by those willing to commit their minds and bodies to the task. Only as countrymen and as brothers can we hope to master and subdue to the service of mankind the enormous forces which rage across the world in which all of us live and only in this way can we pursue our personal talents to the limit of their possibility; not as Northerners or Southerners or Black or White, but as men and women in the service of the American Dream."

SENIORS

From the very beginning of mankind, more often than not, seniority has served as the pedestal from which priority is dictated mingled selfishness and apathy have triggered tyranny, provoked dissension and squelched self-esteem at the cost of a mangled freedom and a distracted unity. But this must not and will not remain so for the disenfranchised spirit of the "now generation," of our generation, broods a new brotherhood, one harboring peace at the price of equality; a harmony resolved in unity under God "indivisible with liberty and justice for all."

"The multitude which does not reduce itself to unity is confusion; the unity which does not depend upon the multitude, is tyranny."

CLASSES

In a world deeply embroiled in a class struggle, we must continually strive to remain unbiased in our opinions. To become more knowledgeable is to become less prejudiced. Through the channels of education the ideals of unity are explored and our minds, having assimilated these lofty aspirations, must never let them die; rather, they must exploit every possibility to keep them alive and meaningfully involved in seeking to alleviate the ills of our contemporary world. To be instrumental in establishing unity in our society, we must first achieve this unity in our individual hearts and minds. Only then can we effectively extend the hand of peace.

"In the world is involved the unity of humanity, the wholeness of the human problem, which permits nobody to separate the intellectual and artistic from the political and social and to isolate himself within the ivory tower of the 'cultural' proper."

Thomas Mann

ACTIVITIES

Where should our interests lie? Should they be self-centered or rather, broadened out to reach the heart of our fellowman?

Through participation we are enlightened to a challenging awareness of growing by self-giving. Many people call out to us in the hope that we will answer them in their moment of need. To answer we must become an integral part of society; not passively allowing everything to revolve around us but becoming a part of that revolving axis which holds the world in its entirety.

"Then join hand in hand, brave Americans all! By uniting we stand, by dividing we fall."

John Dickinson

STUDENT LIFE

Due to the constant confusion and misunderstanding among men in the world today, the role of the individual in our society is an unsteady and difficult one to pursue. It is for this reason that emphasis is placed on the importance of the social activities of the students. Here, in a most informal way, are forged perhaps the strongest links in that endless chain which binds the many into one--School Spirit!

Commencement

A life without awareness is not worth its living; and awareness without a sense of brotherhood is not worth the sporting.

But not all feet can wear one shoe nor can unity unanimous bear beyond the edge of audibility the furious expletives of its incompetence with a world half plagued by a hollow, divested virility.

This awareness is one of nothingness; of that inconceivable chasm of mute melancholy. And our commencement, the commencement of '69 nods, not in sympathy; but rather in anxiety and concern for a new spirit in a declining century--for harmony and justice among men of good will.

ATHLETICS

Because modern society stresses the development of one's mental aptitudes, the role of athletics is often overlooked.

The 1968 Olympics clearly demonstrated the instinctive competitiveness that lies within man-- The late John Steinbeck aptly commented on this inner drive in man when he stated in The Pearl "that humans are never satisfied that you give them one thing and they want something more. And this is said in disparagement, whereas it is one of the greatest talents the species has and one that has made it superior to animals that are satisfied with what they have."

The physical as well as mental coordination exhibited by the Olympiad athletes clearly indicates that a common goal can unite the peoples of all nations for the betterment of man.

"May they (the youth of all countries) display cheerfulness and concord so that the Olympic torch will be carried on with even greater eagerness, courage and honor for the good of humanity throughout the ages."

of XIX Olympiad*

Steve Cappucio--apparently unaware of the imminent danger

Have You Got the Spirit?

Benjamin, our mascot, insures a victory for Notre Dame.

"If you want N. D. to win, clap your hands..."

The girls add pep to a rally

"Hey, Cavaliers, come on; let's fight..."

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer
as carefully
as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.
